

nexmart

System partner

One format - one interface - several retailers nexmart supports you, as a system partner, to optimise the business processes between your retailers and their manufacturers. This not only make the processes more effective and more efficient. The absolute advantage here: All data is transferred via a single interface, in your preferred format and via your preferred channel. In order to achieve this, we have implemented various solutions that link your customers with the manufacturers and ensure a seamless transfer of sales-relevant data.
